School Committee Urges New Junior High School

At its recent, initial organizational meeting, the Agawam School Committee, under its new, three-time chairman F. Joseph Napolitan unanimously voted to request and support a new Junior High School, instead of a Senior High School, or Middle School. This action was taken after a great deal of study and discussion, and with full realization of the pending study proposal of the Town Complex - Schools Study group. In consultations with the Selectmen, Mr. Napolitan has revealed their well-developed plans for renovating the present town Administration building, and acquisition of storage facilities in the Shea's Field area for Public Works Department equipment. These actions by the Selectmen fully satisfy the needs for additional Town Hall space. In view of this, the only other major construction need is for classrooms, and related library facilities, for which the School Committee is statutorily responsible.

Because of the present, critical overcrowding at the High School, and the State requirement instituting kindergartens in the near future, it is planned to remove Grade nine from the Senior High, and Grades six from the elementary schools and place these in (Please Turn To Page 5)

Quick to make, the base of the salad contains marshmallows, mayonnaise and whipped cream. Chopped nuts and celery are added for texture.

To present the salad to your guests unmold on a lettuce-lined plate and fill the pears with chopped celery or a pecan half.

2 cups miniature marshmallows	1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 (1 lb.) can jellied cranberry sauce	1/3 cup chopped celery
	1/4 cup chopped pecans
	1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped

Drain pear halves, reserving 1/2 cup syrup. Dice pears, saving three halves for garnish. Combine marshmallows, cranberry sauce and pear syrup in saucepan. Heat, stirring until marshmallows melt. Now We Understand

If there could be some way by which each of us could communicate with one another and through which administration could explain to its constituents the reasons for its proposals, Utopia will have arrived. I have neither the time nor would I be allotted the space to expound on the many facets of Town government. Some weeks I wonder what is most important to try to explain from your point of view as well as mine.

A vociferous conversation which I overheard in the Town Hall lobby last week prompts me to write about our real estate revaluations. The speaker accused the "blankety-blank" Selectmen for promoting this program because they were spending more money and they needed this method to raise it. It is true that the Selectmen did speak on the Town Hall floor to support revaluation. Further I do not today, or any other time, ask for any mercy in defense of this support. Each of use who understand must feel sorry for the author of the statement which you read above. For in reality it is not an accusation of the Selectmen but in truth a confession on the part of the speaker that he doesn't understand how Town budgets and revenue are tied together. The at-large misconception which people have of our Town government leads me to believe that a major miracle has been realized when adopted plans give us the impetus to move forward.

Again, without alibi, the Selectmen have absolutely nothing to do with revaluation. This is your elected Assessors' problem and I am sure that they, as dedicated servants, will produce results beneficial to most of us. To that man in the lobby let me write that evaluation has nothing to do with spending money. Spending money is a matter of proposing budgets and their eventual acceptance in total or in part by the Town meeting members. Further the Selectmen control very few budgets and the Assessors control none but their own.

Real estate valuation simply tries to ensure that each taxpayer contributes his fair share. None of us is smart enough to know all the answers, and most of us ought to know more of them, but to have someone think he can provide solutions and, at the same time, be so unversed demands our sympathy. Comments made by disgruntled taxpayers are often too rash and are triggered by ire and not by logic. One can often avoid embarrassment by asking questions and waiting for answers.

For the most part, none can complain about his new assessment until he knows what the new tax rate will be and none knows what that rate will be until total assessments and total net expenditures are made for 1970. I have heard predictions that range from 25 to 35 dollars per thousand.

My 1970 assessment is three and one-third times greater than in 1969. If this is the average case, then the tax rate will be three-tenths of the $97 rate in 1969, or $29 per thousand. I must expect that my tax bill will be higher in 1970 than in 1969 because the purchasing power of the dollar is lower.

The so-called "Farmers' Tax Rebellion" does present a problem worthy of discussion. It is an established fact that land values were unusually low. Revaluation, in some cases, increased these values 10 to 20 times the 1969 assessment. If farmers struggled with their 1969 tax, then the 1970 bill could be too burdensome under these conditions.

My warm land is assessed for approximately $2000 per acre. I have 10 acres. I rent this to a potato farmer, for $35 per acre. If the 1970 tax rate is $30/M, my tax bill will be $60 per acre. I will then have to give the Town all of the rent plus $25 per acre to look at a potato field at the rear of my home. This doesn't appear to be good economics.

But — if community economics, by the law of supply and demands, insists that I can not reside like a king on ten acres of high value land without paying the fiddler, then I must make a decision. Either I pay to see potatoes grown here or I sell to developers. Unfortunately a man who is solely a farmer cannot exist under these conditions. He is wealthy on the assessment records but his pocket is empty. Therefore, he too must sell to the developer. This could produce some very dire results. We could well become a Town of apartments and people with nothing to eat.

My suggestion is to capitalize farm land values based on a production or income basis. Let's let the full time farmer survive. He is one of few nice things we have left to enjoy.

Sincerely,
George L. Reynolds, Selectman.

Will History Repeat?

One of the most widely read books of all time is "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire." Written in 1788 by Edward Gibbon it sets forth five basic reasons why that great civilization withered and died. These were:

- The undermining of the dignity and sanctity of the home, which is the basis for human society.
- Higher and higher taxes; the spending of public money for free bread and circuses for the populace.
- The mad craze for pleasure; sports becoming every year more exciting, more brutal, more immoral.
- The building of great armaments when the real enemy was within—the decay of individual responsibility.
- The decay of religion; faith fading into mere form, losing touch with life, losing power to guide the people.

The oft-heard warning that "history repeats itself" has an ominous meaning in the light of the above.

Health for All

Crazy Diet of Chips

Kids eat all kinds of crazy things. Like chips of leaded paint. Leaded paint is not used much these days. But many old buildings—particularly in the ghettos—have walls with peeling coats of leaded paint. Kids eat the chips. Sometimes for kicks. Sometimes to fill their stomachs.

For months, a kid can swallow the chips and not show any of the symptoms of convulsions, vomiting, anemia, and cramps. But when the level of lead in the blood gets too high, the symptoms come. In severe cases, the bone marrow and central nervous system can be damaged. Death can result.

The number of American children with abnormally high blood levels of lead may be as high as 225,000.

Of the severe cases, about 5 percent die. Brain damage occurs in 25 percent. And the risk of permanent brain damage rises to virtually 100 percent if the child gets lead poisoning a second time.

The long-term solution is removing the old leaded paint and, finally, the buildings themselves.

But too little effort is made to tear them down.

The short-term solution has been tried by some cities that have set up screening programs to detect kids who have high blood levels of lead. And Dr. Joseph R. Davis at Chicago's Loyola University has developed a screening test, a simplified urinary test. One person can do 1,000 analyses in a work week.

Slums are central spots for other ills besides lead poisoning. Tuberculosis, for example. The contagious TB germ has a heyday in these congested areas.

Stamping out TB in the slums is a concern of your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. And the multiple problems in the slums are everybody's business.

The English city of Bath was named for the warm-spring spa developed on the site by the Romans in 44-50 A.D.

SPORTSMEN'S CORNER

By BILL CHIBA

On Friday, Feb. 6, James Shepard, Director of the Mass. Div. of Fisheries and Game, presented a check to Russell A. Makepeace, president, of A.D. Makepeace, Wareham, Mass. for 1541 acres of land located in the town of Middleboro.

This is the largest single land purchase yet made by the Division, and is the first one to be funded 50% by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation Fund (also known as the Land and Water Conservation Fund) and 50% by the Fish and Game Land Fund. The latter was provided by a $1.00 increase in the price of fishing, hunting, and trapping licenses 3 years ago.

The new area is interlaced with ponds, fresh water marshes, wood paths, trails, roads and woodland. It has many species of wildlife living naturally in the area. Among these are quail, grouse, snowshoe and cottontail rabbits, waterfowl, raccoon and deer.

The 1541 acres is known as Rocky Gutter (after a brook that traverses the area) and will no doubt continue to carry this name as the Rocky Gutter Wildlife Management Area.

Deer Enjoying Break

The deer are now enjoying a break due to the late January and early February thaw. Most of the snow has melted in the State except in the Berkshires. This area has lost approximately 2 of their original 3 feet of snow. Most of the snow now has a crust on top and this condition still poses a threat to the deer here.

Further east the dogs are still chasing deer, and the restraining order on dogs is still in effect.

The Dog Leash Law is still in effect in the Town of Agawam. Have you noticed lately how the number of dogs running loose has increased. Selectman Reynolds asked for a $2,000 bundle to facilitate the operation of the Dog Leash Law and supposedly hired a capable individual to carry out the directives of the law. Many irate citizens have approached me and asked why nothing is being done about the dog situation in Town. Some have reported the flagrant abuse of the law in their immediate neighborhoods to the dog impounder and claim that the dog man was very sensitive in answering their questions as to why nothing was being done about rounding up the loose dogs. Disgusted these citizens are, and I don't blame them. Someone is letting the townspeople down! Maybe there is a request for more money for the dog operation coming up at the next Town Meeting... lots of luck I say.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q. My wife and I attended a dinner sponsored by our church. The proceeds were used for the church's mortgage reduction fund. Is the amount I paid for the tickets deductible?

A. If the dinner was sponsored by a qualified charitable organization, then a portion of the ticket price may be deductible. For instance, if the tickets to the dinner cost you $25 and the dinner provided would normally cost $10, then your charitable contribution would be $15.

Q. In July of 1969, I sold some rental property at a large profit. The buyer is paying me over a ten year period. Do I have to report the whole profit in 1969?

A. If certain conditions are met, the gain on the sale may be reported on the installment method. Under this method, the gross profit is reported over the ten year period in which payments are received. To qualify, you can't receive more than 30% of the selling price in the year of sale. Further information can be obtained by referring to Publication 537, "Installment and Deferred-Payment Sales," available at any I.R.S. office.

Q. Where do I deduct for exemptions on the new 1040? There is no place to multiply $600 times the number of exemptions.

A. The number of exemptions from line 10, Form 1040, is carried to Schedule T where it is entered on line 4 and multiplied by $600.

Q. Do I attach Schedule T to Form 1040 if I itemize deductions?

A. Yes. If you itemize deductions; or if your adjusted gross income is greater than $5000; or you claim retirement income credit, foreign tax credit, or investment credit; or you are subject to self-employment tax or subject to tax from recomputing prior year investment credit; then your tax must be computed on Schedule T.

Q. I filed Form 1040A last year. Will the new form be more difficult for me to prepare?

A. No. There are a few additional lines but the new form asks for just about the same information as the old 1040A. So preparing your return should not be any more difficult this year unless your financial situation has substantially changed.

Q. If I am not required to file Schedule T, how do I compute my tax?

A. If Schedule T is not required to be filed, you may use it as a worksheet to compute your tax. However, if your income is under $5000 and you do not wish to itemize deductions, go to the Tax Tables to compute your tax instead of Schedule T.

Q. What dividends are subject to the dividend exclusion?

A. You may exclude up to $100 of dividends received from qualifying domestic corporations. If you file a joint return, each can exclude up to $100 of dividend income. However, if one spouse received less than $100 in dividends, the other cannot use the balance of the exclusion. For example, if you received $300 in dividends from a qualifying corporation and your wife received $45 in dividends, your total dividend exclusion would be $145.

"Railroad Dinner" At St. David's Sat.

This coming Saturday night, the 28th, beginning at 5:30 in the parish hall — the members of St. David's Episcopal Church Youth Fellowship, will present it's annual Railroad Dinner.

"Passengers" will enter the upper parish hall which will depict an old-fashioned Railroad Station. There they will be given a ticket marking their destination at the table in the lower parish hall. Each town listed on the ticket incorporates the name of one of the young folk in the fellowship. Prior to descending the stairs the "conductor" will punch the ticket and admit the "passenger" to the train.

In the "station" there will be the telegraphers booth — ticket booths — a travelers aid and stationmasters office. Information concerning the East and West bound trains will be given upon request from the "passengers." The lower parish hall will be decorated with travel posters and railroad lanterns will be the lighting effects.

Reservations may be made through the parish office, RE-79804 or with the Senior Youth Advisors, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newell, RE 28607. Tickets will be $1.75 for adults and .75 for children ages 5 through 12.

Canned salmon stirred into left-over mashed potatoes with a bit of grated onion makes great "pancakes." Just pat into shape, brown and serve.

PROMENADERS

Lindy and Dick Davis

Friday evening, Feb. 27th, the Promenaders will welcome guest caller Dana Blood of East Longmeadow, Mass. Dana Blood is the regular club caller for the "Jumptown Twirlers" of Orange, Mass.

The dance will begin at 8 p.m. at the Robinson Park School on Begley St. All western style square dancers are invited and refreshments will be served by Joe and Lorraine Gasperini.

Our Mardi Gras dance, Feb. 13th, proved to be very interesting. All the costumes were great, but Tino and Anita Davilli certainly took the cake as a centaur and Snoopy (complete with dog house yes!) A certain Spanish couple (Doug and Adele Cochran) also delighted all observers. Everyone had a chance to design their own masks and the decorations were very festive thanks to Al and Elaine Taupier.

It is nice to see our new graduate couples at the dances. We welcome: Pat and Fred Roberts, Dinah and Joe Parmalee, Gert and Guy Cote, and Lorraine and Joe Tousignant.

Our next dance will be March 6th. It will have a St. Patrick's Day theme and Maddy and Bob Dugan are chairmen of this event.

Enter to Learn, Leave to Serve

Enter to learn, leave to serve . . . These words engraved on a concrete bench at the entrance to Mooseheart have a special significance for residents of the Moose Child City. Youngsters arriving at Mooseheart "enter to learn" and receive both academic and vocational training while Mooseheart High School Graduates "Leave to Serve" by taking their places in society as useful citizens.

AGAWAM LODGE Loyal Order of Moose

No. 1935

The successful breakfast would not have been so if it hadn't been for the wonderful people who supported us like Jr. Past Gov. Bertram Walzak and Mrs. Walzak from Chicopee Lodge, District No. 5 Vice-President Frank Greany, Secretary of Westfield Lodge Bob and Penny Laffley and the folks who worked so hard . . . Chefs Bib Bissonnette and Buddy Baker, Cashier Frank Smith, Anna Bissonnette, Donna Baker, Bill and Martha Lamier. The NEXT breakfast is juice, HAM and EGGS, toast and coffee on March 8 from 8-12 noon. Chairman Bill Lamier and helper, Martha said, "$1.25 for adults and 75c for kids."

A WING-DING (Feb. 21st) of a party at the home of Gov. and Ethel Dumond of Springfield St., brought out many folks from different Lodges. Ethel Dumond and Martha Lamier, whose birthdays fall on Feb. 22, celebrated with pineapple cake and 35 guests. Renditions of old songs sung by the crowd were led by Anna Waterman and many games were played. Winners were: John Higgins, Anna and Ted Waterman, Ernie Dumond, and Donna Baker.

Happy Anniversary on March 2, to the Bill Lamiers and many more . . . Don't forget to send in your anniversary date so we can help YOU celebrate.

Youngsters at Mooseheart, the home and school for children of deceased members of the Loyal Order of Moose, get their first taste of formal education at the early age of three years when they begin attending nursery school.

Students remain in the nursery school for two years. Their training consists of singing games, story hours and handicrafts such as finger painting sand box, etc.

The theory behind starting the children in nursery school at such a tender age is to start them learning how to get along with other children of their age group and how to act as a group along with being an individual.

Nursery school is followed with a year of kindergarten in which the children embark on a readiness program in reading, numbers and socialability activities as a group.

After three years of preparation, they advance to the elementary school which consists of the first through the eighth grades, the first three grades being considered primary.

At the elementary level, they are given a social studies program designed to develop an understanding that the child has a place in the school, home and community. A physical education program is also given to develop the necessary skills so that a child may play and enjoy many activities.

Also included in the elementary curriculum is the language arts which include reading, spelling, writing and language, arithmetic music and general sciences.

Starting at the fourth grade level, pupils are placed in reading classes on the basis of reading ability. For example, a boy may be in the fifth grade but have the reading ability of only a fourth grader. He is then placed in a fourth grade reading class.

The opposite is also true. A youth with exceptional reading ability is moved ahead. Permitting the youngster to study reading with classmates at their own ability level has been so successful that a two-year growth in reading skills has been the result.

Its success was responsible for the same type of a program being placed in effect for arithmetic at the beginning of the 1958-59 term.

Mooseheart employs the 8-4 system and students graduating from the eighth grade advance to high school.

SOCIAL SECURITY

People covered by Medicare entering a hospital in 1970 will have to pay $52 of the bill for the first 60 days of inpatient care, according to Daniel J. Murphy, Jr., Manager of the Springfield Social Security Office. From 61 to 90 days the patient's share has risen to $13.00 of daily costs, and over 90 days the patient will pay $26 per day.

If after at least 3 days of hospitalization, and skilled care is required in an approved extended care facility, the complete cost for the first 20 days will be paid for by your hospital insurance. For the 21st through to 100th day of services in the facility, providing the patient still requires skilled extensive care, he will be responsible for $6.50 a day.

This increase in deductibles payable by Medicare beneficiaries is due to the annual review required by law of hospital insurance cost of one day of hospitalization.

Mr. Murphy went on to state that in a year nearly six million of the 20 million medicare beneficiaries are admitted or readmitted to a hospital. The average Medicare hospital stay now costs $700.
